

SAMI ELHASSANI

Mary Black doctor named physician of year

From staff reports

A specialist with Mary Black Health System has been named the D.C. Hull Physician of the Year by the Spartanburg County Medical Society.

Dr. Sami Elhassani, a

Elhassani

gala at the Piedmont Club, according to a statement.

neonatologist, was honored during the society's recent holiday

Elhassani has practiced in Spartanburg for most of his career. He has published more than 100 articles and 30 scientific presentations.

He has a long history of caring for newborns, and as part of the World

Pediatric Project, provided education treating blindness of premature babies.

Elhassani is board certified by the American Board of Pediatrics and is certified by a sub-board of Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine.